AGENDA

Sketching is one of the basis in architecture. The ability to express idea and communicating the intention through sketching is a timeless prerequisite for an architect or designer. This event will highlight the importance of sketching in architecture world and giving an emphasize to the idea of sketching should be contemplate as a tool of communication regardless of skills and profession.

COMPONENTS

1. [SKETCH] On the first week, participants will be exposed to sketching workshops and tutorials, mainly to give an insight and knowledge to improve their sketching skill. Later on throughout the weeks, participants will join Manchester Urban Sketcher groups to do live-sketching at public to help them build their self confidence on their works.
2. [BUILD] During the second week, participants will be divided into groups and they will be given a task of designing an installation space [or a mini pavillion] with limited materials to exhibit their sketches. The activities will give an opportunity for the participants to curate/build their own interactive exhibition.
