As a group, we are interested in modular designs, exhibitions of handmade artifacts and designing architectural structures that enhance the user experience.

Agenda:

- Engage the public
- Inspire them to create their own artifacts
- Establish a better relationship between the public and the university's certified museum
- This complements our individual atelier work as we are collectively testing the flexibility of modular designs on a smaller scale.

Collaborators:

Janneke Geene(as part of the Special Collections Gallery and Reading Room Team)
- Has been involved in the cultural sector( Science & Industry Museum, Manchester Museum)
- Team of experts at curation, collection and conservation
- Will be briefing us, giving feedback on our progress and giving us relevant information

Event:

Our event will be a workshop, within which the team will design a modular maker space, influenced by the special collections exhibition in pursuit of exposing the ethos of the special collections. We will create a 1:20 prototype model of the modular creative hub to be designed and proposed to the collaborators.
