AGENDA

An exploration into temporal placemaking in an effort to increase social and community cohesion. Introduction into participatory design through a series of physical interventions.

"if we think of space as that which allows movement, then place is pause; each pause in movement makes it possible for locations to be transformed into places".
Tuan, 1977, 6

PRODUCTION

Designing everyday urban interventions, which aid in the development of communication within a community. This process will include design charrettes with the local Community.

MASTERCRAFT

Expanding community social interaction and limits Encouraging public communication. Understanding applicable methodology within studio context.
