Agenda

Fairhurst Design Group, one of Manchester's oldest architecture firms, require an interior refurbishment of their reception area and meeting rooms, rebranding their public spaces to portray the firm's outlook and essence. This is an opportunity as students to learn more about the insight of practising architectural world.

Production

The final output of this workshop will be a client presentation at Fairhurst's Manchester office, consisting of a selection 3D visualisations of the student's designs, along with a working portfolio of their design process. At the end of the two week workshop, the students will be given feedback on their designs, with the potential of one of the designs being taken forward for implementation by the client.
