

MANCHESTER SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE

STREET ROOT

AGENDA

This project aims to conduct a feasibility study for a residential facility attached to Kingdom Life Church, supporting Manchester's homeless. Following the New Space, New Song study and collaboration with Embassy, the facility will aid those transitioning from short-term housing. MSALive project students will engage with church leaders to design the building, contributing to community awareness. The project's social impact lies in permanently housing the homeless and elevating the church's local profile. The desired output is a robust feasibility study for the new building's design solutions on the identified site, marking a significant step in addressing homelessness and strengthening community bonds.
