

MANCHESTER SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE

Flag Lane Bath, located at a prominent spot in Crewe, was closed down a few years ago despite its rich historical significance and longstanding service to the community. The proposed project aims to breathe new life into this iconic building, by adapting it for reuse, envisioning a public space with area for a gallery of the history of the Crewe baths. The primary objective is to generate initial concepts for the gallery and provide the client with immersive 3D visualizations. Diving into the building's history and engaging with the local community will be integral to the process. This ensures a thoughtful and community-centric repurposing of this valuable asset for the benefit of Crewe's residents in the coming years.
